

WHAT'S IN A NAME

As you ponder your decision, I ask that you also consider our carefully chosen name. Names are important and ours is meaningful to us for the following reasons:

- Finding is a synonym for discovery - an important word in that this is a time in a child's life when there is so much to discover.
- Me expresses the importance of the child. This importance motivates our desire to help you and your child:
 - Discover at an early age his or her interests - how God has designed them
 - Discover and affirm his or her uniqueness
 - Form solid personality and character foundations that will serve your child well into the future
- Now emphasizes the value of your child at this moment
 - even while still a child
 - regardless of the mood or behavior
 - before any great accomplishments
- Finding Me Now sounds like the name of the movie "Finding Nemo". The story speaks of the importance of a child and the lengths that many will go to save and protect not only the child but the family as well. Our desire is to provide similarly concerned care.

We hope to have the opportunity of serving you and caring for your child(ren) and that someday the name of Finding Me Now will also be important and meaningful to you.
